SOBRIQUETS OF WOMEN.

NICKNAMES BORNE BY SOME OF EUROPE'S FAMOUS LADIES. Many of Them Were Merely Complimentary, and Did Not Signify Anything in Particular - Some Were Appropriate, While Others Said Too Much. An excursion into the realm of history and biography shows that sobriquets have not been bestowed upon women in any such degree as upon men. Yet a considerable number may be collected. For the most part they are far less expressive and typical of character than those given to the male sex. Many of them are simply complimentary terms in reference to their beauty or accomplishments, and were bestowed by chivalrous gentlemen.

"Bloody Mary," as Mary, queen of England, was called, is certainly anything but a flattering cognomen. Historians differ as to whether she deserved the name. Some assert that the responsibility for the sanguinary acts of her reign should rest with her counsets of her reign should rest with her counmelors, who are known to have approved and projected them; others say, that, having permitted these barbarisms, Mary well merits the title history has fastened upon her. However this may be, it is well known that she signed the death warrant of Lady Jane Grey with rejuctance, and absolutely refused to put her sister Eliza-beth and the Earl of Devonshire to death. She often interfored in behalf of those whom her ministers wished to deprive of their lives. The renewal of the old laws against the Lellards is charged directly to her, though some historians claim that many of the details of their ersecution were kept from the knowledge of the queen. Mary was ill most of the time during her reign, and her condition was often taken advantage of by her ministers.

Mary was succeeded on the throne by her dater Elizabeth, who was known in history as "Good Queen Bess." Quite a different title from that borne by Mary. The normal disparity between the two was not, however, so great as the sobriquet would indicate Mary seems to have been credited with less goodness than she possessed, and Elizabeth more. But it cannot be denied that the reign of Elizabeth was very successful, and one of the most glorious and most celebrated epochs in English history. It was an era of states-men, scholars, warriors and poets of the highest renown. Considering the times Elizabeth was probably good enough to warrant her title. She was a good queen, as queens go. Elizabeth is also called "The Vir-

A PAIR OF FEMALE WARRIORS.

Mary of Modena, the unfortunate queen of James II of England bore the title of "Queen of Tears." Samuel Noble wrote:
"Her eyes became eternal fountains of sorrow for that crown her own ill policy contributed to lose." To the average reader, however, that misfortune would seem to be slight in comparison with that of being yoked for life to a personage so stupid and unreasonable as

James,
Joanna, the beautiful daughter of Edmund, Earl of Kent, gained the sobriquet of "Fair Maid of Kent." She was three times married, the third time to Edward, the Black Prince. King Richard II of England

Elizabeth Barton, a supposed secress of the Sixteenth century, was known as the "Holy Maid of Kent." She was executed at Tyburn, April 21, 1534, on the charge of high treason, in having prophesied that great calamities would fall upon England, and that Henry VIII would die a speedy and violent death should be divorce Queen Catherine and marry Anna Boleyn. Her prophecy does not appear to have been fulfilled. Elizabeth, queen of Bohemia and daughter of James I of England; was called the "Queen of Hearts," from her kind and engaging manner. Through all her trouble and ill fortune, of which she had more than her share, she preserved her dignity and goodness, and commanded the love and admiration of all who were brought in contact with ber.

"The Semiramis of the North" was a sobriquet bestowed upon Margaret, daughter of Waldemar III, king of Denmark, for her warlike qualities. She seems to have fairly sarned it. After her father's death she be came queen of Denmark. On the death of ber husband, Haco VIII, king of Norway, she became the ruler of that country also. She then conquered Sweden, and was acknowledged its queen. In the latter country she was unpopular, and her name is still held in leathing by the Swedes, who accuse her of having been cruel and oppressive. Some his torians deny this charge. At any rate, Margaret was a queen of great executive ability. The sobriquet "Semiramis of the North" has also been given to Catherine II, empress of Russia, for the same reasons that it was given to Margaret, and with equal appropri-

Another woman of military renown was Augustina Zaragoza of Spain, who earned the sobriquet, "The Maid of Saragossa," by her bravery during the defense of Saragossa against the French in 1808-9. Her most celebrated act of heroism was taking the station of her lover, who had fallen, in one of the batteries and working the gun in his place. Byron has immortalized her in "Childe Har-

FOR THE GOOD THEY DID.

Mrs. Elizabeth Fry, the benevolent English woman, who wrought so many reforms in the management of jails and prisons in her own and other European countries, was called "the Female Howard," in recognition of the similarity of her life work to that of the illustrious prison reformer, John Howard. The great amount of good accomplished by these two unselfish lovers of humanity cannot be calculated. It is felt today, and will be felt until the end of time. Another benevolent English woman was Florence Nightingale, upon whom Longfellow bestowed the title, "St. Filomena." In his poem of that name the poet pays the highest tribute to the character and work of Miss Nightingale. Her name is held in reverence by the whole population of Great Britain, and especially by the soldiers.

The peculiar sect, or society called Shakers had for their leader and founder in America a woman named Ann Lee. She was regarded by her followers as the "spiritual mother," and hence was always called "Mother Ann." By some she was, and still is, considered a manifestation of Christ in the female form. Jems is recognized as the male manifestation. "Mother Ann" was a woman of much ability. She died in 1784.

Jenny Lind, the famous singer, bore the appropriate name of "the Swedish Nightingala." This title is a deserved compliment to her sweet voice and a reminder of her na-

Louise Labe, the French poetess, who lived in the Sixteenth century, was called "the Beautiful Ropemaker." She was an accomplished linguist and wrote in three different anguages. She also distinguished herself by her remarkable courage at the stege of Perpigran.

"The English Sappho" was a sobriquet given to Mary Darby Robinson, who acquired a reputation for beauty, wit and poesy during the reign of George IV.—James M. Adams in Detroit Free Press.

This township lies on the eastern slope of the Coast Range of mountains, and from 13 to 20 Cash Capital, $200,000. T: hama County. The field notes of the U. f Surveyor who laid out this township, says: "This township is well adspied for grazing, as it affords pasturage for large herds of cattle. It is wel watered by the various tributaries of 1 lder reils. It is also very valuable for its timber which consists of a heavy growth of yellow and augar pine, spruce, and cedar. There is a heavy undergrowth of chaparral, chemical and manan its." The even sections are in most instances government land, so that the parts most valuable as adjuncts to this range might easily be secured at government price, namely: $2.50 per acre for single quarter sections. In Section 9, coal was discovered recently by some herders, but nothing has been done to de velop the mine, although samples which have been tested show the coal to be of excellent qualily. •

We are assured that a Bailroad heading for the Coast, and running through the Coast Runge tim-ber beit will be built very near this ranch. Price for the whole, consisting of 10,378 27-100 acres will be $35,000.

DIAMONDS.

Watches and Diamonds Found in Teas and Coffee-A Novel Way of Introducing Goods.

The names of all persons finding diamonds, watches, etc., are added to this list daily. The Overland Tea Company have refitted the store formerly occupied by S. M. Jamison, and in order to introduce their goods, this company put for thirty days souvenirs in every can of tea and coffee gold, such as solid gold, silver and nickel watches, also genuine diamonds in solid gold setting; also money and many other articles of less value. Every can contains a souverir. The coffee, can and contents weigh about three pounds; tea. can and contents about one and one-balf pounds. This expensive and novel way of advertising will be discontinued after thirty days, and these really choice goods will be sold strictly on their merits, but without the souvenir. Of course every purchaser must not expect to get a diamond or watch. This company claim that they have just as good a right to give away watches, diamonds or other jewelry as their competitors have to give away glassware, chromos, etc. Get up a club. Those who get up a club order most always get a handsome present. Orders by mail promptly forwarded to all parts of the United States on receipt of cash or postoffice order. WHAT IS

SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings; which causes painful running sores on the arms. legs, or feet; which developes ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness of deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors;" which. fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death: Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or affections, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cures it has accomplished often when other medicines have failed, has preven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. "My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofnlons sore neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became running sore for over three years. We gave

RENO

Has no equal in Nevada or California for salubrity of climate, wealth of soil, diversity of products and stability. Situated in the very heart of the celebrated Truckee Meadows the future of Reno is assured. Reno is the City of Homes. There is not a house to rent in Reno. New buildings are occupied as fast as erected. Reno has advantages which no other town can equal. The climate is mild and genial in Winter, and even and healthful in Summer. There are no excessively heated or severely cold terms, and while the days may, be warm in Summer the nights are deliciously cool; in Winter sleigh-riding is the exception and not the rule.
